

Information and Instructions Canada Pension Plan Disability Benefits Application

What are the Canada Pension Plan (CPP) disability benefits?

The CPP disability benefit and the CPP post-retirement disability benefit are taxable monthly payments available to people who have made contributions to the CPP, are under age 65 and are not able to work regularly at any job because of a disability.

The CPP disability benefit is intended for individuals who are not receiving a CPP retirement pension, and the CPP post-retirement disability benefit is intended for individuals who become disabled after they begin to receive a CPP retirement pension (Effective January 1, 2019).

Important: You cannot receive a CPP retirement pension and a CPP disability benefit (except the CPP post-retirement disability benefit) at the same time.

If you are approved for a CPP disability benefit, you are giving Service Canada your consent to cancel your CPP retirement pension in order to receive the CPP disability benefit by signing this application.

A benefit may also be available to their children.

How do I qualify for CPP disability benefits?

To qualify for CPP disability benefits, 3 conditions must be met:

- 1. You must be under the age of 65.
- 2. You must have made the minimum amount of valid CPP contributions.

Contributions to the CPP are made while you are working.

Service Canada will review your contribution history to determine if you have made the minimum amount of valid CPP contributions to qualify for CPP disability benefits.

The disability benefit amount you could qualify for is based on how long and how much you contributed to the CPP plus a flat rate. The post-retirement disability benefit is the flat rate component of the CPP disability benefit.

The information you provide in Sections A and B along with the information on your account will help us determine if you have made the minimum amount of valid contributions to the CPP.

3. You must have a mental or physical medical condition(s) that prevents you from regularly working at any job. The medical condition(s) must be found to be both severe and prolonged when you last met the minimum amount of valid CPP contributions to qualify, and you must have been unable to work continuously since then.

For the CPP:

- Severe means that you have a mental and/or physical disability that regularly stops you from doing any type of substantially gainful work.
- Substantially gainful work or occupation is considered to be any profession or work one might pursue to earn a living. If the total amount of earnings from this work is more than 12 times the maximum monthly CPP disability benefit amount, a person is normally considered to be doing substantially gainful work.
- Prolonged means that the disability is long-term and of indefinite duration or is likely to result in death.

Service Canada will review the information you provide in Sections C, D and E along with the medical information we receive from your doctor, nurse practitioner, insurance company or provincial/territorial agency. This will help us determine how your medical condition(s) impacts your capacity to perform work-related activities.

? Where to get help

If you have been diagnosed with a terminal illness

If you have been diagnosed with a terminal illness by your doctor or nurse practitioner, you can fill out the Terminal Illness Application for Disability benefits under the Canada Pension Plan (ISP2530).

Service Canada will make a decision on your disability application within 5 business days of receiving a complete Terminal Illness Application.

? The Terminal Illness Application can be found online at www.canada.ca/esdc-forms.

If you have contributed to the Quebec Pension Plan

The CPP operates throughout Canada, except in Quebec, where the Quebec Pension Plan (QPP) provides similar benefits.

If one of the following applies to you, please contact Retraite Québec.

- You worked in Quebec only.
- You worked in Quebec and at least one other province/territory and currently live in Quebec.
- You worked in Quebec and at least one other province/territory, you currently live outside of Canada, and your last province of residence in Canada was Quebec.
- ? Information can be found at www.retraitequebec.gouv.qc.ca/en.

If you have contributed to both the CPP and QPP, you must apply for the QPP if you live in Quebec or for the CPP if you live in another province or territory in Canada.

If you need time to complete the application

Past applicants have reported that it takes time to complete the application. Some have suggested that it was easier to complete it in multiple sittings. You may want to consider filling out one section at a time with breaks in between. Read each section carefully, as some parts may not apply to you.

You must keep in mind that the date Service Canada receives your application is important as it could affect when your benefit starts.

If you need more information to complete the application

? The information and instructions you will need to apply for a CPP disability benefit can be found in this application. You can also find more information about the benefit online at www.canada.ca/cpp-disability. If you cannot find the information you are looking for or have any questions, contact Service Canada at our toll-free numbers.

Please have your Social Insurance Number ready when you call.

If you need help

You can give permission to another person to give or receive information from Service Canada on your behalf. To give permission, you must:

complete the Consent to Communicate Information to an Authorized Person (ISP1603) form found at www.canada.ca/esdc-forms.

This consent does not provide authority for the person to apply for benefits on your behalf, change your payment address, or request/change a tax withhold.

⊕ If y

If you wish to have someone act on your behalf or you are no longer capable of managing your own affairs, you can appoint an authorized representative.

See page 19 of this application for more information on authorized representatives.

What we need from you

1. An application for Canada Pension Plan disability benefits

The CPP disability benefits application is available in two formats. You can choose to complete a paper application or a fillable form that can be found online at www.canada.ca/esdc-forms.

Note: You can save the fillable form to your computer, but you cannot submit it electronically.

Be sure to:

write/type your Social Insurance Number at the top of each page.

provide as much detail as you can.

sign in pen and mail the form to the Service Canada office nearest you. See a list of addresses on the next page. You can also drop off the completed application at a Service Canada Centre near you.

If you need more space:

write/type the information on a blank sheet of paper and attach it to the application.

write/type your Social Insurance Number at the top of each sheet.

write/type the question number, then write the information you want to add.

2. A medical report

If you are currently receiving a disability benefit from an insurance company or a provincial/territorial agency:

you can ask them to send us your most current medical report(s).

If you are not currently receiving a disability benefit from an insurance company or a provincial/territorial agency:

complete Sections 1 and 2 of the Medical Report for Canada Pension Plan Disability Benefits (ISP2519). write/type your Social Insurance Number at the top of each page.

sign all areas that require your signature.

ask your doctor or nurse practitioner to complete Sections 3 to 9 and ask them to mail it to the nearest Service Canada office.

DO NOT WAIT for your doctor or nurse practitioner to complete the Medical Report before sending your completed application to Service Canada. The date Service Canada receives your application could affect when your benefit starts.

Service Canada will help you pay for the cost of the Medical Report by paying up to $85.00 directly to your doctor or nurse practitioner. Any money owing over this amount is your responsibility.

B3 If you worked less to care for young children - Child rearing provision If you worked less or stopped working because you were the primary caregiver for one or more children under the age of 7, you may have contributed little or nothing to the CPP. For this reason, we may be able to apply the child rearing provision. This could help you meet the minimum amount of valid CPP contributions needed to qualify for a disability benefit, and/or could increase the benefit amount you receive. For the CPP, the primary caregiver is the person who is/was most responsible for the daily needs of the child(ren) until the age of 7. Some things a primary caregiver does are: watch over the child(ren), prepare meals, go to school meetings and events, or take the child(ren) to doctors appointments. To qualify for the child rearing provision, you must have been the primary caregiver and: received the Family Allowance (available before 1993); and/or been eligible for the Canada Child Benefit, even if you did not receive it (available since 1993).

For Service Canada to receive your medical information from your insurance company or provincial/territorial agency you must contact them and ask them to send it to us. If we receive the medical information from them, you will not need to submit the Medical Report for a Canada Pension Plan Disability Benefit (ISP2519).

Have you contacted the insurance company or the provincial/territorial agency to authorize them to send us your medical information?

Reimbursement of benefits to an insurance company or a provincial/territorial agency

Service Canada may find that you qualified for a CPP disability benefit when you were receiving benefit payments from a private insurance company or a provincial/territorial agency. If we owe you a retroactive payment (up to 11 months) you may have to pay back the benefits you received from those organizations during that time.

Service Canada can reimburse a private insurance company or a provincial/territorial agency on your behalf. In order to do this, we need your written consent. The insurance company or a provincial/territorial agency will ask you to sign a consent form to allow us to pay them directly. If you choose not to do this, it is your responsibility to inform them.

(C8) Functional assessment - assessing your abilities

In question C2, we asked you to state the medical condition(s) that prevents you from working regularly. With these next questions, we would like you to tell us how the medical condition(s) affects your ability to work. The answers and additional information you provide will be considered along with the medical information provided by your doctor, nurse practitioner, insurance company or provincial/territorial agency.

As you are answering the questions, think about all of your physical and mental limitations, regardless of what medical problem is causing them. Focus on what you can do, not how you feel.

Next, think about what it means to be a worker. All jobs are different, but working means you must be able to:

- get hired or create your own job;
- get ready for work;
- travel to and from work;
- deal with co-workers and clients;
- deliver a quality product or service; and
- follow a work schedule set by your employer and/or clients.

Then, compare your limitations to the demands of work, and provide your ratings on the next few pages based on your ability level most days. Assume you are using your aids such as crutches, cane, artificial limb, splints, braces, wheelchair, hearing aid, service animal or adaptive computer equipment.

If you do not have any limitations with the abilities being assessed, you can check the box at the top of each question block.

If you have any additional information about your abilities, you can provide the details in the area following each question block. The following examples could help you with the explanation/information you may want to provide in these areas.

Examples

Physical abilities

It is very difficult for me to remain standing for more than 10 minutes at any given time because of my back pain, even on my good days (one or two days a week). Up until a year ago, I was able to do this without a problem. I am most comfortable lying down. Hot baths help, but only briefly.

Behaviours and emotional abilities

In the last few months, my depression has gotten worse. I have a hard time getting myself out of bed most mornings (four to six days a week) because I feel so down. I find myself crying for no reason and I am often irritable with others. On my good days, I can spend some time with other people, but on my bad days, I cannot get myself to leave my home. I stopped volunteering for my son's hockey league because it's too hard being around others.

Communication and thinking abilities

In the last year, my fibromyalgia has made it very hard to sleep at night. On my good days (one or two days a week), I am able to sleep up to four hours, but on my bad days, I cannot sleep at all. Medications for pain and sleep leave me drowsy and "spacey" the next day. Because of this, I have a lot of difficulty organizing my thoughts and finding my words when I talk to others. I cannot concentrate on what I am supposed to do most of the time. I used to read novels for pleasure, but now I can't focus my attention for more than a couple of pages.

Other daily abilities

Starting last year, my fatigue has been overwhelming. I used to constantly be "on the go" running my home-based bookkeeping business, seeing new clients and driving my kids to sports and other activities. That ended when my condition flared and I had to let go of all my clients because I couldn't keep up. Now, I am unable to finish doing household chores without having to sit or lie down every half hour. Even washing myself has become too hard. I cannot hold my arms up long enough to finish washing my hair because I get so tired.

Section G - Payment information

G1) Direct deposit

If your application is approved, your monthly payments will be deposited into your account at your financial institution. The account must be in your name. A joint account is also acceptable.

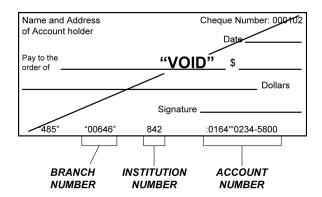

To enroll for direct deposit banking, you must provide your banking information below.

Institution number (3 digits)

Account number (maximum of 12 digits)

Name(s) on the account

Telephone number of your financial institution

Sharing your direct deposit information with the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA)

Your direct deposit information can also be used by the CRA to deposit any income tax refunds, working income tax benefit advance payments, the Canada Child Benefit, the Universal Child Care Benefit, and GST/HST credit payments you may receive. If you agree, Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC) can share your direct deposit information with the CRA.

For ESDC and the CRA to share your personal and direct deposit information, your permission (consent) is required.

By filling in the circle for "I agree", you agree with these two statements:

- I consent to ESDC sharing with the CRA my direct deposit information entered on this form for any payments I may receive from the CRA.
- I consent to ESDC sharing with the CRA my Social Insurance Number, last name, and date of birth so that the CRA can identify me correctly.

If you fill in the circle for "I do not agree", your information will not be shared. You may still update your banking information with the CRA by contacting them directly.

○ I agree ○ I do not agree

Section H - Consent for Service Canada to obtain personal information

Service Canada is authorized under Section 68 and 69 of the Canada Pension Plan Regulations to receive personal information (medical and non-medical) about you to determine if you qualify or continue to qualify for Canada Pension Plan (CPP) disability benefits. Your consent to permit Service Canada to obtain this information is necessary should Service Canada need this information from the persons and organizations listed below.

I give Service Canada my consent to obtain personal information about me that would help determine if I qualify or continue to qualify for CPP disability benefits. For this reason, Service Canada may contact any of the following persons and organizations if necessary:

- medical doctors, nurse practitioners, consultant specialists, or other health care professionals
- educational institutions or other vocational agencies
- my accountant or bookkeeper for information on self-employment
- federal, provincial, territorial, or municipal government departments and agencies
- provincial or territorial workers' compensation boards
- financial institutions (for address updates only)
- medical facilities or hospitals
- administrators of insurance plans
- employers, former employers
- voluntary organizations
- employees (for the cases of self-employed persons)

Note: Failure to check an option below could result in a delay in processing your application.

\bigcirc	I give my consent to Service Canada to obtain medical and other personal information about me from all persons and organizations listed above. I understand that this information may help determine if I qualify or continue to qualify for CPP disability benefits.
()	I do not give my consent to Service Canada to obtain medical and other personal information about me from all persons and organizations listed above.

- will make a decision based on the available information on my file;
- may stop paying me the benefits if I am already receiving them; and
- can require that I provide the necessary information.

I understand that if I do not give my consent, Service Canada:

Privacy Notice Statement

Read the following information before you sign your application:

The personal information you provide is collected under the authority of the Canada Pension Plan (CPP) and will be used to determine your benefit eligibility and entitlement. The Social Insurance Number (SIN) is collected under the authority of section 52 of the CPP Regulations, and in accordance with the Treasury Board Secretariat Directive on the SIN which lists the CPP as an authorized user of the SIN. The SIN will be used as a file identifier and to ensure an individual's exact identification so that contributory earnings can be correctly applied to your record to allow for benefits and entitlements to be accurately calculated.

Submitting this application is voluntary. However, if you refuse to provide your personal information, the Department of Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC) will be unable to process your application. The personal information you provide may be shared within ESDC, with any federal institution, provincial authority or public body created under provincial law with which the Minister of ESDC may have entered into an agreement and/or with non-governmental third parties for the purpose of administering the CPP, other acts of Parliament and federal or provincial law. As well, the personal information you provide may be used and/or disclosed for policy analysis, statistical, research, and/or evaluation purposes. However, these additional uses and/or disclosures of personal information will never result in an administrative decision being made. The personal information may also be shared with the government of other countries in accordance with agreements for the reciprocal administration or operation of the foreign pension program and of the CPP and Old Age Security Act.

Your personal information is administered in accordance with the CPP, the Privacy Act, the Department of Employment and Social Development Act, and other applicable laws. You have the right to the protection of, access to, and correction of your personal information, which is described in Personal Information Bank-Canada Pension Plan Program-ESDC PPU 146. You can ask to see your file by contacting a Service Canada office. Instructions for requesting personal information are provided in the government publication entitled Info Source, which is available at the following web site address: www.canada.ca/infosource-ESDC. Info Source may also be accessed online at any Service Canada Centre.

You have the right to file a complaint with the Privacy Commissioner of Canada regarding the institution's handling of your personal information at: www.priv.gc.ca/en/report-a-concern/file-a-formal-privacy-complaint/ or by calling 1-800-282-1376.

Authorized representative

An authorized representative can act on your behalf. This person will have all of the rights and responsibilities that you would have as an applicant/beneficiary, such as signing the application and keeping Service Canada informed of any changes to your account. These could include changes to your telephone number, your medical condition(s) or a return to work.

An authorized representative could be any of the following:

- guardian - lawver - trustee - curator

- Power of Attorney (for CPP purposes, only POA for property is accepted) - committee

- any other legal representative of that person - executor

The authorized representative must be appointed under a law of Canada, a province or territory, or by the Minister, to manage your affairs. Legal documents must be submitted to support an authorized representative and could include:

- mandate
- trusteeship
- Power of Attorney documents (for CPP purposes, only POA for property is accepted)
- letterhead from a lawyer clearly stating they represent you
- an official CPP/Old Age Security program form. Contact us for more information.

An authorized representative cannot receive the paid benefits on your behalf unless it has been proven that you are not capable of managing your affairs.

This application contains information about the Canada Pension Plan disability benefits which is based on the Canada Pension Plan legislation. If there are any differences between what is in this application and the Canada Pension Plan legislation, the legislation is always right.

Annex A - Child rearing provision guide

For the Canada Pension Plan (CPP), the primary caregiver is the person who is/was most responsible for the daily needs of the child(ren) until the age of 7. Some things a primary caregiver does are: watch over the child(ren), prepare meals, go to school meetings and events, or take the child(ren) to doctors appointments.

Family Allowance (FA) - available before 1993

The FA program (once known as the baby bonus) sent monthly payments to parents or guardians of dependent children under the age of 18. For most families, payments were issued to the mother. The Canada Child Benefit replaced the FA program in 1993.

Canada Child Benefit (CCB) - available since 1993. Previously known as Child Tax Benefit and Canada Child Tax Benefit

The CCB is a monthly benefit based on your net family income level, the number of children you have, and the ages of your children. In most families, payments are/were issued to the mother.

If you were the primary caregiver of one or more children and did not receive the CCB only because your family income was too high, you are considered to have been eligible for the CCB.

Please contact the CRA for more information about obtaining this letter.

If you are not sure of which situation applies to you, complete all questions in B3 and Service Canada will review.

Annex B - Certified photocopies of original documents

Please send certified true photocopies rather than original documents whenever submitting documents to Service Canada. If you must send your original documents, we suggest you send them by registered mail. We will return the original documents to you.

We can only accept a photocopy of an original document if it is readable and if you have someone certify that it is a true copy of the original.

How to get a certified true photocopy of an original document

Documents can be certified by Service Canada staff free of charge at any Service Canada Centre. If you cannot visit a Service Canada Centre, you can ask a member of one of the following professions to certify your photocopy:

- accountant
- chief of First Nations band
- commissioner for oaths
- employee of a Service Canada Centre acting in an official capacity
- funeral director
- justice of the peace
- lawyer, magistrate, notary
- manager of a financial institution
- medical and health practitioner: chiropractor, dentist, doctor, naturopathic doctor, nurse practitioner, ophthalmologist, optometrist, pharmacist, psychologist, registered nurse
- member of parliament or their staff

- member of a provincial legislature or their staff
- minister of religion
- municipal clerk
- official of a federal or provincial government department, or one of its agencies
- official of an embassy, consulate or high commission
- official of a country with which Canada has a reciprocal social security agreement
- police officer
- professional engineer
- social worker
- teacher
- university professor

Note: You cannot certify photocopies of your own documents and you cannot ask a relative to do it for you.

The person certifying the document(s) must:

- compare the original document to the photocopy;
- state their official position or title and sign and print their name;
- provide their telephone number;
- write the date they certified the document; and
- write the following statement on the photocopy: This photocopy is a true copy of the original document which has not been altered in any way.

Note: If your photocopy is missing any of the above elements, it will not be accepted and you will have to submit a new, properly certified photocopy. This could result in delays in processing your application.

If the document has information on more than one page, photocopy all pages. The person you ask to certify your photocopies can either certify each page, or only the first page as long as they indicate and attest to the total number of pages in the document, including any pages that are blank.

Please write your Social Insurance Number on any document or photocopy that you send to Service Canada.

Before you send your application - checklist Have you written your Social Insurance Number in the box at the top of each page and at the top of each sheet you have added? Have you provided your date of birth on page 1? Have you read and signed the Consent for Service Canada to obtain personal information on page 17? Have you read and signed the Declaration and signature on page 18? If you are currently receiving a disability benefit from an insurance company or a provincial/territorial agency: Have you asked them to send your most recent medical report(s) to Service Canada? If you are not currently receiving a disability benefit from an insurance company or a provincial/territorial agency: Have you completed Sections 1 and 2 of the Medical Report? Have you asked your doctor or nurse practitioner to complete Sections 3 to 9 of the Medical Report and mail it to Service Canada? DO NOT WAIT for your doctor or nurse practitioner to complete the Medical Report before sending your completed application to Service Canada. The date your application is received by Service Canada could affect when your benefit starts. Have you removed the information and instructions pages from the application at the front and back? These contain general information and do not need to be submitted. To mail your application to the Service Canada office nearest you, see the list of addresses on the page Service Canada Offices in the Information and Instructions pages at the front of the application. You can also drop off the completed application at a Service Canada Centre near you.

What to expect after you send your application

It could take Service Canada about four months to determine if you qualify for the disability benefit.

Once Service Canada receives your application, we will:

call you to confirm that your application was received. ask you for more information or other documents if needed. answer any questions you may have.

Once we receive all the information and/or documents we need from you:

Service Canada will determine if you have made the minimum amount of valid CPP contributions.

If you have made the minimum amount of valid CPP contributions:

a CPP disability medical adjudicator will assess your medical condition(s) and its impact on your capacity to perform work-related activities.

If we ask for more information or ask you to see another doctor to evaluate your medical condition, the process may take longer than four months. If more than four months have passed and you have not heard from us, contact us to check the status of your application.

If you qualify, your benefit will start four months after your disability was found to be severe and prolonged (as defined by CPP legislation). You may receive up to 11 months of payments retroactive from the date your application was received.
